leaders, so they will be acquainted with the plans before the session convenes. He said he expected the legislature to enact his program in a few days.

Meanwhile, the governor will meet with legislative leaders to discuss introduction of measures embodying his relief program, which calls for an increased excise tax on utilities and diversion of county shares of the gasoline tax for relief purposes.

Five-Year Tax Plan
Proceeds of the utilities tax, which would be operative for five years, would be allocated to the various subdivisions for the retirement of local bonds which could be issued immediately. This plan, the governor estimated, would yield $11,000,000 and the county shares of the gasoline revenue would approximate $12,500,000 by March 31, 1933, when the diversion would cease.

Resides the utilities tax and the gasoline tax diversion, the program calls for liberalization of the poor relief laws to permit the purchase of clothing for school children and to give legal status to the state relief commission in its supervision of expenditures of relief funds in the various communities.

Emphasizing that he would limit the lawmakers to relief measures, Governor White expressed the hope his program would be enacted within a few days. Several legislative leaders, however, believed that at least two weeks would be required, allowing for possible minor changes in the program.

Loath to convene the extra session, the governor acted only after weary hours of conference with industrial and business leaders, and members of his cabinet. These conferences followed appeals of hundreds of individuals and many communities faced with depleted treasuries as a result of the long period of unemployment.

16,515 HOURS' WORK PLEDGED ON 2ND DAY

Results Yesterday Exceeded Those of First Report; 110 Workers Out Today.

the first day's efforts, they reported.

Another interesting condition reported by the solicitors is the general willingness to maintain a desirable wage scale for work done by the unemployed. Very few, they say, have shown a tendency to take advantage of the unemployed by offering an abnormally low wage for work to be done.

It was estimated this morning that approximately 80 per cent of the city's residents had been approached in the job drive and that the other 40 per cent would be interviewed within the next seven days. Return visits are being made to residences where no one was at home when the solicitors first called.

It would take one man approximately six and a half years, working eight hours on each of the 312 working days in a year, to do the work pledged in the current drive. It was computed this morning.

Although the drive proper will end at the conclusion of a 40-day period, the work of the Marion "At Work" Civic committee on the employment effort will continue three or four months, according to present plans. Followup trips will be made into Marion residences, a checkup will be made to see that all pledged jobs have been taken care of, and an employment agency will be maintained to receive requests for workers as well as names of the unemployed.

Those cooperating in the city-wide drive are the American Legion, the Federated Women's clubs, the City Parent-Teacher council and the Legion auxiliary.

The nation contributed 8,130 jobs yesterday, making the national grand total of 245,495.

WOUNDED MAN IS IMPROVING

Frank Pitta Reported Recovering at Hospital.

Continued improvement in the condition of Frank Pitta, of 674 Sugar street, who was shot in the jaw during a struggle with his wife at their home Saturday night, was reported at the City hospital this morning.

No attempt to obtain his version of the shooting had been made by the police today. Chief Marks said they were waiting until he had recovered sufficiently from the wound to enable him to talk more easily. Mrs. Pitta who was taken to the county jail, yesterday, is still being held pending a further investigation of her story that the shot was fired during a struggle and after Pitta threatened to shoot her.

NORTH-SOUTH UNION PLANNED IN IRELAND

St. Patrick's Day Brings Hope of End of Age-Old Division of Irish Affairs.

By The Associated Press
DUBLIN, March 17.—The wearing of the green had a double significance in Erin today: It was the 150th anniversary of St. Patrick's landing and it brought a new plan for union of the north and south of Ireland.

Kamon De Valera, new president of the Free State announced a four-point program from his administration, one point of which was an eventual merger of the Free State and Ulster governments, an age-old division of Irish affairs.

Other points were abolition of the oath of allegiance to King George and of the more than $10,000,000 a year in land annuities paid to the British government, as well as suspension of the military courts set up by the Congress regime to try Irishmen for offenses against the government.

W. C. T. U. STIRRED BY WHITE SPEECH

Referendum on Prohibition Advocated by Governor at Conference.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—Governor George White, elected two years ago as a friend of prohibition, was on record today as favoring a referendum on the Eighteenth amendment.

White, the state's "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, made his first public declaration on the question of a referendum at a regional conference of the Women's Christian Temperance union here last night.

Asserting his belief that prohibition supporters had erred in opposing a popular vote, the governor startled the dry assemblage with the statement that he favored re-submission if for no other reason than to refute claims that the liquor laws were forced through during the World war when thousands of citizens were overseas.

Semi-suppressed "nays" greeted the remarks of the tall, gray-haired chief executive who started his career as a gold-digger in the Klondyke, but he continued: "It is the right of my record to at least make the suggestions for your careful consideration."

Declaring the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon league were "making a mistake" in their battle against a referendum, Governor White told the women prohibition had failed to meet the expectations of its supporters and that the wisdom of continuing it should be submitted to the people for final decision. He predicted the nation would remain dry unless a substantial substitute for prohibition is offered.

CHARTER MEMBERS AT GRANGE MEET

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Ashworth of Athens Attended Session.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Ashworth of Athens, O., charter members of Salt Rock Grange No. 2457, were present for the fourth anniversary meeting and program Tuesday night in the grange hall southwest of Morral. Lester Watt, master, presided.

Among the numbers on the program was a history of the grange compiled by Mrs. Valis James and a story on the first grange members by Mrs. Ashworth, which was read by Miss Glendora Buck. The program opened with a song after which the following program was given: Anniversary reading, Mrs. Dale Mahaffey; readings, Miss Blanche Richardson, Joseph James and George Rogers, Mrs. Clara Poots, Bert Richardson, Mrs. Maude Buck, Mrs. Bert Richardson and Lester Watt. Mrs. John Steen and Tommy Steen gave two short stories.

A birthday cake was a feature of a social hour in which refreshments were served. Visitors were present from the Harpster and Montgomery granges. A meeting will be held in two weeks.

CITY CAPTURED BY INSURGENT FORCE

By The Associated Press
CHANGCHUN, MARCH 17.—A powerful Chinese insurgent force under a Manchurian leader named Tainghai and equipped with artillery attacked and captured Fufu, a city of 80,000 people, 100 miles southwest of Harbin, last night, it was reported here today.

TOKYO, March 17.—A dispatch to the Rengo news agency from Antung, Manchuria, said a group of Chinese insurgents occupied Chwangho, an important coast city southwest of there. The insurgents threw the local officials into prison.

SECRECY CLOAKS MURDER INQUIRY

By The Associated Press
LIMA, O., March 17.—Investigators of the quarry-murders of Earl Truesdale and Thelma Woods, young Lima couple, were secretive today concerning developments of the case.

James May, accused of participating in the slaying by the alleged confessions of two Mansfield reformatory prisoners, was taken to the reformatory yesterday to confront them. May has persistently denied any connection with the deaths.

The officers returned May to the Lima jail last night but did not disclose the results of the reformatory visit.

ANOTHER LINDBERGH CLUE FALLS APART

Back Where It Started, Police Admit, as Latest Lead Collapses.

already proven to be of no value. He spoke of the child being found at a time at Creston, Ia., and said a birthmark on that baby's chest had made it possible definitely to determine it was not the Lindbergh baby, which was not so marked.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who are waiting stoically through the draining days and nights, were reported today to pin their hopes on:

(1) A police belief that Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., kidnapped 16 days ago is still alive.

(2) A feeling that when the furor subsides, the kidnappers may negotiate the 20-month-old child's return.

Press Reports Decrease

The world excitement that followed the crime is already dying down. Yesterday newspapermen here sent out by teletype only 50,000 words. On March 16 at the high pitch, 240,000 words streamed over the wires.

A high police authority, declaring a belief the child is alive, based it on the contention the kidnappers would be afraid to destroy the infant. It would be just as easy to leave it in a hotel room if the hunt pressed too close, he said.

Although the detective ingenuity lavished on the case, he said, would rival that of any of the master sleuths of fiction or real life, the police are no nearer a solution than they were two weeks ago.

They do not even know, he indicated, whether the world's most noted kidnapping case was the work of professional infant snatchers or amateurs with amazing luck.

Still Checking Tips
Police resumed today the endless task of checking tips and leads. They were still working on information given them by Mr. and Mrs. C. Leandro Lightfoot of Franklin Park, N. J.

The Lightfoots said their German servants, butler and maid, took a 60-mile auto ride the night of the kidnapping and left their employ the next day. Before going for the ride, they said, the servants borrowed a flashlight.

When they quit their jobs, Mrs. Lightfoot said, the butler told her his mother was dying in Germany and that was why he and his wife, the maid, had to leave. Some time later, Mrs. Lightfoot said, she discovered a chisel and some wood from a crate were missing. She wants to look at the ladder and chisel found at the kidnapping scene.

A call for all police departments in the state to act in concert to remove "the blot on the fair name of New Jersey" was issued by Herbert C. Wildey, Morristown chief of police, and president of the New Jersey association of police chiefs.

Sees No Sign of Progress
Belief that the undercover agents of Col. Lindbergh had made little headway in their attempt to get the child back was expressed by the same high official who said he believed the infant was alive.

The New York Daily News said the colonel had hired a private detective agency to augment the searching forces and had given it full power to act for him in negotiating with the kidnappers.

Another of the many "leads" collapsed yesterday when William Gleason was released and cleared.

A hotel charges more when two sleep in one room. The Pullman company supplies special service, comfort and safety to the extra passenger. SCREAMS HALT KIDNAPERS
By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—Police are investigating another kidnapping scare here. Miss Marjorie Hall, 26, nursemaid, reported that while attending her charge, 14-month-old Barbara Webb, two men, in an auto bearing New York license plates, tried to kidnap her. She screamed, she said, frightening the men away.

LOSE FAT
This Right Way

Modern science has found that excess fat is largely due to a scanty gland secretion. Too much food which should supply fuel and energy goes to piled up fat.

It is this discovery, and the need over are feeding this lacking factor. The results are seen in every circle. Excess fat has been disappearing fast. Millions have gained slender figures, new youth and vigor, in this right way. They have done it without starvation, by combating the cause.

Marmola prescription tablets present this modern method in a form convenient and cheap. They are prepared by a medical laboratory, famous the world over. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. New multitudes of people show and tell the results. Some of your friends are among them.

If your figure is abnormal, your vigor below par, do what these people have done. Take Marmola tablets four a day until conditions are corrected. Don't starve yourself. Don't use methods which are futile. Do the right thing now.

All druggists supply Marmola. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the amazing results. Go start now. You do yourself a vast injustice by remaining over-fat.

7 HOURS IN BED AND NOT 7 MINUTES' SLEEP
The Toll Acidity Takes!

When you go to bed dog-tired and can't sleep and you rise in the morning more tired than when you went to bed, it's a sign you're "acid." Acidity causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up intestinal putrefaction which saps your vitality and wears out your nerves.

Magnesia Oxidized, developed in Germany by the world's foremost pharmaceutical house, corrects acidity in the right way. Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxidized generates nascent, or active oxygen, which does the three things necessary to correct acidity—stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks intestinal putrefaction, promotes bowel action. Get a package of Magnesia Oxidized today and take two after each meal. See how much better you feel. If not more than surprised with the results, your money back. "The salesgirl told us they wouldn't, with Lux. Thank goodness we washed them this way..."

* First, measure the sweater—then make lukewarm Lux suds and press them gently through—don't rub the least bit! Rinse in 3 lukewarm waters, pin flat on a board to dry, shaping to the measurements you made at first.

This easy way preserves "elasticity"—leaves your sweaters soft, perfect-fitting—like new! Ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips—often contain harmful alkali which shrinks wool and fades colors, too. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux!

How One Woman Ended Eczema

Severe Case All Over Her Body, But Now She Is Better.

Here is just another case of how Peterson's Ointment conquers the terrible itching of eczema after other treatments had failed. The same kind of a story comes from all over the country. After others fail Peterson's Ointment succeeds.

This letter from Charlotte Branda, of Swansea, Mass., is worth reading: "I used Peterson's Ointment and soap for a very severe case of eczema. It was all over my body. I have tried many things to cure it, but not one of them gave me a cure. I saw the ad of Peterson's Ointment in the Fall River Herald and now I am better. I do not go without your ointment and soap in the house, and recommend it very much."

DENIES BRITISH DEBT REVISION CONSIDERED

Hoover Spokesman Answers Democratic Attack in Senate.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 17.—A Democratic attack in the senate today against revision of the British war debt owed to America brought a denial from Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, on behalf of President Hoover, that the subject was even under consideration.

Senator Reed specified that the "question had not been discussed" with Ambassador Mellon, who is about to sail for his London post. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, had quoted from a newspaper story published here today saying that Mellon was favorably inclined toward revision of the British debt. He warned that any revision would be very carefully considered by congress.

After Senator Connolly, Democrat of Texas, challenged the administration to state its position Senator Reed, who had just returned to the floor said:

"I am authorized to say that there is not a word of truth in the newspaper article."

PROPOSE DRASTIC FEDERAL PAY CUT

20 Per Cent Slash in Salaries of Congressmen and Employees Included.

Daily Proverb—"Better deserve honor and not have it, than have it and not deserve it."

Seven-inch ice is being harvested from Lake Erie. And thus the long-felt apprehension of the lake fishing industry people is at last dissipated.

If the charges concerning the conditions in the women's reformatory at Marysville are established, it might be well, among other changes, to change its name.

There are more than 2,000 claimants, represented by 300 lawyers, to the $100,000,000 Wen-del estate in New York City. It's an easy guess as to who will be the real beneficiaries of the Wendel millions.

From Washington comes word that opposition to the sales tax is growing throughout the country. It's the way of the public. There is general recognition that there must be an added tax burden to get the country out of the financial hole in which it finds itself, but everybody wants the other fellow to pay it rather than bear a proportionate share.

It is being said of a certain aspirant for a place on the Democratic state ticket that he has been beaten three times for the office he seeks by the same Republican candidate, having run 250,873 behind the head of his state ticket in the 1920 campaign, 622,924 behind in 1924 and 318,127 in 1928. If he isn't merely a glutton for punishment, he might try his luck
some other than a presidential year.

The communist, who wounded three policemen, a bystander and a woman and her son
during the anti-Japanese riot in Chicago last week, is being held to the grand jury under a $51,000 bond. Another opportunity for the American Civil Liberties union to cry: "Outrage!"

The Hofstadter legislative committee has developed the fact that Tammany politicians have been securing city permits at nominal figures and disposing of them to contractors at good, round prices. This may be said for the Tammany grafters: they aren't overlooking any bets.

Shanghai and Szechuan provinces in China report 20,000 deaths from the bubonic plague, which is sweeping the two provinces. China is having more than her fair share of troubles. If it isn't a civil war, a little misunderstanding
with Japan more deadly than the average war, it's a flood or a plague, or all of them combined. But despite all of them, she apparently maintains a population of 400,000,000.

Appearing recently before the patents and copyright committee of the house, of which Representative Slovich, of New York, is chairman, Bruce Coleman, dramatic critic
of the New York Dramatic Mirror, remarked that "wise cracking is the refuge of the witless. Gags are used by footpads." Question:
Where does this leave Mayor Jimmy Walker, or New York?

Business Reactions.

Some sage has said that "in times of stress
men rise to meet the occasion."

Granting that business conditions today are not what they might be, it is interesting to take note of the different reactions of business men to various degrees of adversity. These reactions may be divided into two general classifications, according to sales representatives of various organizations. A salesman, it must be admitted, has an extraordinary opportunity to observe business reactions first hand.

Group one would include those men who realize that business is not so good as it might be. Nevertheless, they are going ahead and doing the best they can, preparing themselves for the break they feel must come. They realize that profits will not be comparable to 1929 profits, but their courage and ambition is unimpaired. They are going to do the best they can with the tools they have at hand. They know that their business is going on as long as they are able to direct it.

Group two includes those who are sure that
the country is finished, knocked off its feet,
that business never will recover, and that every one should be acutely conscious that he is faced by an economic cataclysm from which there can be no recovery. Members of the latter group have given up hope of ever making any profit again. In short, they are licked and like so many who are licked, take comfort in crying about it.

Optimism unsupported by facts may be harmful and misleading. But there is an optimism based on belief in the future and fortified by sane recognition of fact that carries the optimist along. The man who refuses to be licked can't be licked. He is still doing business.

A Critical Period.

It is possible that Americans have too much confidence in their government's ability to produce results. Over-confidence, when it is not fed by extraordinary success, has a way of turning into sour skepticism.

The government's program for national financial reconstruction has been the focus of attention for the last six months. Each new development was seized upon eagerly because it promised action. Business is sick to death of stagnation.

The foreseen, but unavoidable, consequence was to build up hope out of proportion to reason. For many people realization is at hand.
They expected too much. The long pull that common sense would have warned them lay ahead will seem like failure of federal projects
such as the Reconstruction Finance corporation
and the liberalization of federal reserve restrictions.

The time between now and late spring will be a critical period, corresponding to the period
that follows a major operation when the patient's recovery hangs in the balance. There will be refusal to believe what can not be seen,
and strong doubt of what can be seen.

The laborious work of reconstruction is going ahead, nevertheless. The Reconstruction Finance corporation is using the funds available to it. Banks are in a stronger position.
The danger of receiverships for certain important railroads has been averted. Business observers report a better spirit, even though positive evidence of improved conditions may be hard to find.

A New York City banker reports to the Citizens' Reconstruction organization, which is conducting a national campaign against hoarding, that a customer has taken $500,000 in gold and gold certificates from a safe deposit
box and deposited them in a savings account.
Similar stories are being told in other parts of the country. Already $2,000,000 has been brought out of hiding in the Fourth federal reserve district. The work of reconstruction is going forward.

The Washington feeling is that there will be a congressional investigation of the farm board. It certainly should strike pay dirt, with the accent on the pay.

The father of a twenty-year-old Harvard boy
is endeavoring to have annulled the secret marriage, entered into December 28 of last year,
of his son and a New York City dance hall hostess. Who knows? Time may show that the girl in the case got the short end of the deal.

Speaking about aviation records, a dispatch
from Anchorage, Alaska, recites that Pilot Frank Dorbrandt and two companions, a day or two ago, intentionally landed their plane inside the crater of Aniakchak volcano, which not only gives something of an insight into the size of that volcano's great crater, but also
into the foolhardiness of some aviators.

California Explains Everything.

All those stories about Californians being unwilling to admit that the climate of their state
ever is anything but perfect must be wrong.
A news dispatch coming directly from Los Angeles last startled easterners that southern California is having more than its share of weather; that mountains are covered with snow and that winter sports equal to those available at Lake Placid or in Switzerland are being enjoyed daily by thousands of fairweather natives.

Not being able to do anything about it, California seems to have turned to rationality for comfort. The story continues with the cheerful information that the snow, instead of being resented and cursed, is welcome because it is insurance against the long dry season, providing plenty of water for irrigation and domestic use. An invitation is extended to one and all to visit California, and see what probably will be the grandest display of spring and desert flowers on record.

How fortunate that the year of the big snow
happened to be the year of the Olympic games at Los Angeles! Trust California to come out on top when the issue involves a defense of its weather.

Babe Ruth, by signing up at last to play for $75,000 is out $5,000, but that's a mere bagatelle to what the Yankee management is out in free advertising. The newspapers aren't falling for the annual hold-out stuff this year like they formerly did. They are getting wise to the game.

A seventy-two-year-old New York state
woman is suing the New York Central railroad for $28,000 damages, which she claims she suffered when one of its porters kicked a stool away just as she was about to step upon it in alighting from a train, alleging that her injury will keep her from dancing. If she has to go through life handicapped like that, the sum asked is little enough.

If there is anything in the story that the Tammany delegation in the lower house of congress is going to support the sales tax, it's pretty close to a lead-line clinch that the senate will soon feel the force of the lobbying of the various interests opposing it, the latest acce-sions to which are labor and agriculture.

How Guilty of Robbery?

Governor White has pardoned a Hancock county youth who has been in prison since May 25 of last year, having been convicted of robbing a filling station attendant of eight gallons of gasoline and sentenced to serve from seven to twenty-five years in the Ohio state penitentiary, the state supreme court having rendered a decision that the youth and his companion at the time were not guilty of robbery, but simply drove away without paying for the gasoline after discovering that they didn't have the money to pay for it. The court held that their offense was not robbery for the reason that they didn't use force in securing the gasoline. The decision freed the companion, who had appealed the matter. The question is how the subordinate courts ever found the youths guilty of a robbery charge.

Editorial Opinion.

NOW TAXPAYERS ARE STUCK.

The policy of public financing of real estate allotment promotions, which seemed in the days of prosperity to be justified by pride in local development, now is pointed to as one of the reasons why county and municipal governments are so hard up.

When real estate men would open a new subdivision their custom was to go to the county commissioners or the city council (according to the location of the lots) and ask for improvements.

The commissioners or the council then obligi-
ously would authorize bonds to put in sewers,
water mains, electric lights and streets.
The bonds were to be paid by assessments against the property so involved. All went merrily, so long as lots sold and assessments were paid.

But in the last two years very few lots have been sold, and many real estate promoters have gone broke, and counties and cities have bonds
to redeem out of general revenues.

On one large allotment in Franklin county,
which was improved out of public funds raised by the sale of bonds just before the depression, neither taxes nor assessments have been collected for two years. So sinking fund and interest charges are coming out of the otherwise depleted general revenues. Nor, on the depreciated realty market, can the allotment be sold for enough to cover the cost of the improvements.

County Auditor Thatcher says Franklin county and Columbus have "several million dollars" so sunk in realty improvements.

If, eventually, these improved lots are forced to public sale and do not bring enough to pay taxes and assessments, the balance due the county or city is automatically cancelled,
which means that the taxpayers pay this difference.

This is little purpose now in growing about past mistakes in policy, but for the future we can see no reason why the taxpayers'
money should be used to finance private adventures in real estate development.—Columbus

TAXES AND PATRIOTISM.

The house ways and means committee recommends its billion-dollar tax measure to the average citizen, with this curious observation:
"Surely this is no intolerable burden for him
to bear in support of his country in these times of stress."

Any burden is intolerable that is imposed upon a people without commensurate benefits to the people. "Unnecessary taxation," Abram
S. Hewitt declared, "is unjust taxation."

The times would not be fiscally so distress-ful in the United States if the cost of government had not been inflated out of all sane proportion to the nation's needs.

A notable portion of the billion dollars to be raised by new taxation during the next fiscal year will go to support not the country, but scores of agencies with which the government has come to be infested, which the country does not need and which the people have to pay for, without getting their money's worth out of them.

When the cost of government has been cut
to a reasonable figure, when offices and officers no longer eat up taxes but have been reduced to the rock bottom of what is indispensable,
a long suffering people will be able to listen to the tax collector's appeal to patriotism,
without getting as hot under the collar as it does today.—Detroit Free Press.

MONSTER!

Cleanliness Best Insurance.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Typhus fever has always been associated with filth and unhygienic surroundings. "The history of typhus fever is the history of human wretchedness," said a wise man of old.
As civilization and education have spread over the face of the earth, this disease has greatly decreased.

It was not until the sixteenth century that typhus fever was recognized and treated as a distinct disease. It is now believed to be carried by a parasite resembling the ordinary body louse.

Typhus fever occurs whenever large numbers of people are massed together under poor hygienic conditions. It is always found in wars. In the recent world war the disease was one of the worst afflictions of trench life.

The disease is more common in Europe than in this country. The last epidemic in America was in 1893, and since then only occasional cases have been reported. When the disease appears in this country, it is usually found among recent immigrants.

Among the signs of typhus fever are sudden chill and fever. The fever persists and on the second day may be as high as one hundred and five degrees. Nausea, headache and aching pains are common signs.

On the third to fifth day a reddish rash appears. This rash changes from a pinkish red to a purplish brown, and rapidly spreads
all over the body except the face. Insomnia and restlessness are present, and in severe cases the patient may become delirious.

The crisis is reached on the thirteenth or fourteenth day. After that the aches, pains and fever gradually disappear.

A sufferer from this disease requires expert care and nursing. Without it there is always danger of a serious complication, such as broncho-pneumonia. The patient should be given food that is easily digested; water should be taken freely, and the mouth should be kept clean.

The parasites carrying the ailment must be removed from all clothing and bedding. At the beginning of the disease a thorough cleansing of the body is essential, and a daily bath is given thereafter.

Prevention of this disease is largely a matter of personal cleanliness. It is also a problem of social welfare. Dark, crowded, unsanitary houses are favorable to infection with typhus fever. With complete eradication of these factors this disease will no longer be encountered, and I am glad to say that typhus fever is already a rare disease.

Nor is the importance of sanitation to be overlooked as a factor in preventing other diseases than typhus. When we get our communities and our homes in a state of perfect cleanliness, we can expect to see a decline in the sickness rate.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

Mrs. F. M. Q.—I am underweight, is it all right to take cod liver oil tablets in place of oil?

A.—Yes, they should prove helpful.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest.
Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one,
write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

"The Last Paradise."

BY TEMPLE MANNING

Many there are who take an around-the-world cruise not only as a holiday, but as a means of sampling the beauties of the globe and discovering one spot that approximates to their idea of a dream place. And many voyagers have discovered the end of their quest
when they arrived at Bali, an island in the Dutch East Indies, just south of the equator.
But enjoying a splendid climate. Much has been written about this exotic group of islands that includes Sumatra, Java and the much smaller island of Bali. It's dances, its music, its girls and, of course, its atmosphere of rare cultural beauty, its atmosphere of rare culture, its culture that is the heritage and expression of even the simplest people. A writer has referred to it as the "last Paradise" and
when one sees the simplicity of the people,
the beauty of their lives, their art, the serenity
that is not the past of the charms of the island,
it is not hard to agree with this description.

Community music is no novelty to the Balinese and it is more highly developed and professed than it ever is even in our most artistic suburbs where the urge is something to the cultivation of the spirit. There is no fierce struggle for existence in Bali, there is food in abundance, the people are wise inasmuch as their wants are few, they use their leisure not by working hard to find amusement, but in the cultivation of the beautiful,
art, music, dancing, wonderful gold cloths, all the things that express a culture of the highest order. Can you wonder that travelers feel that they have reached their journey's end
once the ship has reached Buleleng and a car takes them along roads bright with jungle growth, scarlet with poinsettias, climbing up into the highlands where the Balinese live?
A glorious setting for dance festivals with the dancers wearing delicate, fantastically wrought crowns of pure gold, their slender young bodies garbed in stiff cloth of gold that turns to fire in the crimson rays of the tropical setting sun.

Men and boys, bare-chested, sit on mats,
some two dozen of them arranged in a square.
In their hands are tiny hammers, before them
are wooden racks hung with bells and bars of bronze. Then there are huge frames enclosing great and lesser bronze gongs. There is another rack with strangely shaped bells, four men stand there with sticks. There is a long drum, over little bars of bronze, played by two boys who wield small hammers. Such is the gamelan or orchestra of each community. The men play and spend hours practicing because they love music, although they have never learned it. They are farm hands, and music is their recreation. They would earn pay. The music is strange, like a taste for green olives. It has to be cultivated, but it doesn't require a professional ear to discover that somehow the music expresses perfectly that which is Bali, exotic, yet simple, apart from the workaday world, a paradise where greed and commerce have not reared their tangled heads.

Voyagers to Bali are never tired about exploring the wonders of the dancing and music clubs of Bali. I was fortunate enough to see several of them in competition and all
was as solemn as though a fortune depended on the outcome. Practicing went on for weeks beforehand, and children who were just picking up the elements of music were as fiercely interested as their elders. Some of the instruments are mounted on magnificent teak-
wood bases, beautifully carved and joined.
Scarcely an object in beautiful Bali that has not been glorified by exquisite workmanship.
Beauty is the creed of the Balinese. Surely this is civilization in excess. Even the frame that holds the bells is carved with designs of flowers, leaves, petals. It is stained with red and its designs overlaid with pure goldleaf.

Squirrels.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Now when squirrels are growing scarce even in the few parts of the state that are still fairly well wooded—and are hunted so vigorously by sportsmen in open season—they are coming into the city for protection. It is difficult to understand, for at one time the rodents were so numerous as to constitute a distinct enemy to the farmer, so much of his corn did they destroy.

More than this it is said they became so numerous in the early days when their natural enemies were few, and hunters did not waste ammunition on them, that the mere necessity of food, compelled them often to migrate in large numbers to new forests miles away. In such a movement it is said the ground was almost entirely covered by them, and they were not to be turned aside even by their enemies, not to be hindered by rivers.
These they swam, though ordinarily squirrels
dislike water.

A Columbus newspaper of August 20, 1822, contained a call for people of the county to join in a general hunt for squirrels for the sole purpose of depleting their number. Captains for the several townships were named,
and it was their business to see that their community was properly represented. The township that could show the most squirrel scalps was to hold the county championship.

A subsequent issue of the paper told of how 16,650 squirrels had been accounted for on that day.

Dinner Stories.

"What did you think of Lysistrata?" asked
the press agent.

"I'm against it," answered Senator Sorghum.
"and I don't like the author."

"Aristophanes was considered pretty good."
"That may be, but he's a foreigner. And,
anyhow, he has been dead too long to have any financial or political influence."

Warden—"What is your occupation?"
Convict—"Composer of popular songs."

Warden—"Put him in the copying department."

"I understand that you and your wife never exchange a cross word," remarked the observant friend.

"That's right," answered Mr. Meekton "The cross-word puzzle is sufficiently interesting the way it is without trying to reduce it to home conversation."

"What is the difference between an old-fashioned and a modern girl?"
"An old-fashioned girl blushes when she is ashamed and a modern girl is ashamed when she blushes."

Indignant Visitor—"I've been receiving a number of threatening letters lately." Police Sergeant—"Any idea who might have sent them, sir?"

Indignant Visitor—"Oh, yes—those beastly income tax people."

Young Wife—"Pierre is perfectly wonderful to me, mother. He gives me everything I ask for."

Mother—"That merely shows, my dear, that you are not asking enough."

Friend—"Why did you send that dish back
if there was nothing wrong with it?" Wulfe—"Well, mom, if ye gie the impression that ye're not satisfied with the service, the waiter will no expect a tip."

"Do you think people who gamble in the stock market ought to be punished?"
"I don't know about that," answered Mr.
Dustin Star. "But they usually are."

New York Day by Day.

New York, March 17.—The many-sided much-traveled genius from Marion, Massachusetts—Homer Day—is indexing his world-roundup of epitaphs. They have been salvaged from all points of the compass to go in volumes promising much toward shaking of gathering gloom.

The most quoted of epitaphs is Don Parker's: "Excuse my dust." And a former runner-up is Harry Hershfield's: "Here
the body of Harry Hershfield, if not p-notify Ginsberg & Company, undertakers,
immediately." Frank Condon's is: "At ia hole in one."

There's futility in Don Herold's: "I tho
it would be like this." Then there's Don Quis: "Who me, like this." William MacLeod has this on me: Earl Derr Biggers: "The last installment," and Stan Laurel's: "My last insurance on this lot."

Other epitaphs waiting to be chipped of stately granite are: "At peace at last—bridge-playing husband." "The only man
the hill who has not borrowed on his life insurance." "Victim of the Depression" and couplet: "Dust proof I lie 'neath this terstruggly wrapped in cellophane."

In Woolworth churchyard, England, Mr.

KITTY FREW

by JANE ABBOTT

Copyright—Jane Abbott.

And David had been kind. David had listened to her story without a single interruption. She knew he'd been angry, listening; she'd seen how he dug his hands savagely into his pockets, how, now and then, his lips bit hard over some word he would not speak. He paced up and down the floor. But he hadn't interrupted her and she was grateful for that because if he had she could not have gone on with it, perhaps.

"What's your plan, Kitty? Do you want to go home?" "I thought of that at first but I'd rather not. I'd hate to go like this—to have them know—for Gar's sake, you see." She faltered, flushing, for she knew David would not see.

He had the grace to turn his scorn from her.

He came to find her still smiling. "Fine—You're looking more like yourself, Kitty. Ready? There's a little place on the corner, not many frills to it—"

"Oh, I'm glad of that," Kitty's tone was fervent.

The restaurant was almost empty. The table to which David led Kitty was marble-topped, centered with salt and pepper cellars, an enormous sugar-bowl and vinegar cruet. A sign on the wall behind it warned patrons to watch their own hats and coats.

Kitty had a swift disturbing memory picture of Gar at the Hoffman, Marge, Diana, Red, the others— "I can recommend the beefsteak and French fries," David was saying.

"I am fighting for Gar's and my happiness." In her earnestness Kitty caught her hands over her breast and the gesture gave her the look of a religious taking a vow.

David saw her like that and a sudden swift tenderness softened the hard lines of his face.

"You haven't eaten any dinner," he said abruptly. "I haven't either. So let's cheer ourselves a little before we tackle the situation. Sit here while I wash up and then we'll go out."

He went into an adjoining room. Left alone Kitty dropped her head against the back of the divan and closed her eyes. Oh, she'd been right in knowing she could lean on David's kindness! And just for awhile she had to lean on something—

When she opened her eyes it was to her first realization of the room, a shabby room, in mannish disorder. It seemed to have nothing in it but books, books on shelves put in between the windows and against the end wall, books on the table back of the divan, old, worn-looking books. But nothing them, Kitty smiled. She'd pictured David lonely but no one could be lonely with so many books. At one of the windows stood a desk and a typewriter, covered over with a wild confusion of loose sheets of paper. That was where David worked—probably he'd been working there when she telephoned.

He came to find her still smiling. "Fine—You're looking more like yourself, Kitty. Ready? There's a little place on the corner, not many frills to it—"

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Makes Amends for His Impulsive Outburst by Planning a Few Days' Quiet Vacation.

THERE were several things in Dicky's outrageous little speech that rasped him almost to the snapping point. His reference to Hugh Grantland as "Sydney Carlton," and to Philip Veritzen as a "royal satyr," while palpably intended to be humorous, were nevertheless hard to accept without umbrage.

I was determined to avoid any unpleasantness if I possibly could but I felt as if my smile had been skewered to my lips while I racked my wits for an answer to his query concerning Mr. Veritzen that should contain nothing to annoy my capricious husband.

An Unhappy Prospect "I can tell you without any delay what he is 'hatching,'" I said. "The last time he was here, he asked me to do something socially for the Arlene, and I explained to him how impossible it was for me to entertain while our house sheltered the wounded Chinese and was guarded against his vengeful countrymen. I put him off by telling him that as soon as the menace was lifted, I should be glad indeed to have them."

"Sapphira! Sapphira!" Dicky drew his face down dolorously. I'm afraid you'll get yours from an offended deity if you don't quit spilling whoppers like that last one. Yes, you'll be glad to see Arlene and Mamma—so glad you'd like to get a medium and have the ghost of dear little Lucrèce Borgia tell you just what her best recipe was.

"But I suppose there's no honorable way out. If our private hospital moves over to The Larches, you'll have to sling some kind of a party."

"I suppose so," I said tonelessly. "What kind do you think would be best?"

"What verve! What enthusiasm!" Dicky clasped his hands theatrically. "If you just keep that spirit you'll have the ball committee of the Beaux Arts sending for you."

"I know I'm ungovernable," I said contritely. "But I can't help it—those two women are just—"

"Poison to you," Dicky finished. "I don't blame you. When Arlene Avia turns those unbecoming eyelashes in my direction, I feel a mad desire to go through the nearest window."

"But you'll have to go through with it, for I imagine old Phil has a yen on for that particular stunt, and the Lord knows you've put it over him enough with your ultimatum on what you would not do."

"I'll reveal in your spunk, darling, and if you'd done anything else I'd have crowned you; but enough is sufficient, and there's no use in betting the old satyr in a bad humor just before you begin work with him on the production of your play."

"I wish you wouldn't call him that," I said pettishly. "I hate that word."

Ready to Oblige "All right," my husband returned cheerfully. "Always ready to oblige. I shall always refer to him as the 'old goat' hereafter. And now I'll endeavor to answer your question as to the style of party we shall sling. Don't you think a beach picnic with dancing on the sand in the moonlight in bathing suits after swims would be the cat's and kitten's?"

"For all the young people here, yes," I returned, "and if I were sure Mr. Veritzen wouldn't be offended I'd like nothing better than to give one."

"I don't need three guesses to tell you why you'd especially like to pull a stunt like that," he said provocatively.

"Well! Mistah Bones why?" I returned, flushing a bit guiltily.

"Because you have surmised with me, that Arlene in a bathing suit resembles nothing so much as a gaunt and bony horror, and that on the night of the party you would find that your guest of honor had some sudden attack of pneumonia or appendicitis that would keep her away. And in some way she'd manage to lay the blame on you, where of course it would belong. Nay, nay, old dear. 'Tis a pleasant thought but we mustn't dwell on it."

"Then I suppose a dinner dance is the only thing," I said.

Dicky suggests a Vacation "The safest, anyway," Dicky agreed. "But don't burst your brain cells worrying about it. The patients haven't departed yet, and I'll put my massive brain to work in the meantime. Of course you'll want it before the British contingent returns to its native heath. Do you suppose that between the party and your going back to the city you and I could run away for a few days again?"

His tone was wistful, and though I knew that behind his request was the jealous desire to keep me away from Hugh Grantland's vicinity, I thrilled to the prospect of a repetition of the wonderful three days outing which Dicky and I had enjoyed, while his surprise of the studio bungalow was being prepared for me.

"I hope we can," I said fervently. "This means we will," he said earnestly, bending down and kissing me. "And now I must beat it up to Dad's room, and leave you to plan your various activities for the next month. I don't envy you, darling. You'll be doubling for the one-armed paper-hanger, and I don't mean maybe."

TEETHING

When makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little bawls do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to young infants to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for older children, too. Remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics—is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a food upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name:

Reforming Robins Take Up Dieting at Training Camp

HOYT STARTED IDEA, NOW OTHER PLAYERS ARE TAKING UP PLAN

Veterans Adopt Unusual Practices as Dodgers Seek to Get in Trim.

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17.—Baseball history is crowded with the table-sitting achievements of the players who have eaten themselves right out of the big leagues. Among this year's rapidly reforming cast of Brooklyn Dodgers, the process is being reversed.

Calabrese, salary cut, the big deal with Cincinnati, and finally, regulating of the commissary department, all have contributed to the most interesting shake-ups in recent big league history.

Discarded by the American league, Waite Hoyt joined Brooklyn with a promise to behave with 20 ball games, and minus 30 pounds of excess weight.

Others Follow Example
With the veteran pitcher as an example and preacher of the dieting doctrine, Carey persuaded heavyweights like Hack Wilson, Dazzy Vance and Babe Phelps to adopt Hoyt's eating gospel.

In brief the Hoyt diet involves classification of foods. Breakfast is limited to uncooked fruits, with a cup of coffee. For lunch, starchy foods may be eaten in good quantity. Proteins are confined to the evening meal.

The only casualty at present is Dol Bissonette, first sacker, whose left ankle is in a cast as a result of a pulled tendon.

Bissonette probably will not be in shape to start the season, though he should be all right within five weeks.

Meanwhile Carey may juggle the two hard-hitting players he got from the Reds by assigning Joe Stripp to first base and Tony Cuccinello to third, with Glenn Wright at short and Mickey Finn on second.

With Bissonette in shape, however, the lineup calls for Cuccinello at second, and Stripp on third base.

Babe Herman is gone but Carey believes this lost punch and color will be offset by Hack Wilson. The ex-Cub, slouter will work with Continued on Page Eleven

Training Camp Highlights

By The Associated Press
TAMPA, Fla.—Ernest Lombardi is slated to be the first string catcher of the Cincinnati Reds this season.

Returning from Winter Haven, where the Reds took a 10-5 trimming at the hands of the Phillies, yesterday, Manager Dan Howley said reliance behind the bat would be placed on the player obtained this week from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Both Lombardi and Wally Gilbert, also obtained from the Dodgers, spent yesterday in warming up training.

NEW ORLEANS.—Only powerful hitting saved the Cleveland Indians from a defeat yesterday at the hands of the New Orleans Pelicans.

Eddie Montali's home run and Earl Averill's triple were among the Tribe's 11 hits which gave them 7 runs to the Pelicans' 6.

The Pels made scores off each of the Indians' Moundsmen, Jablonowski, Bean and Pearson.

LOS ANGELES.—The New York Giants have been kidding J. Francis Hogan about his excess weight.

Ordered to catch a full game yesterday to take off extra poundage, and admonished as well to "stop crashing into the grandstand," Hogan replied by getting two bases on an infield hit and winning the ball game with it as well.

LOS ANGELES.—Having lost second base in an eight game series with the New York Giants, the Chicago Cubs today continued their experimenting against the Portland club of the Pacific coast league. The set against the Giants revealed the younger pitchers have made headway in conditioning for the national league race, and that the veterans, Charlie Root and Pat Malone particularly, have a lot to do before they are ready.

WALDO, MARION WIN OPENING CONTESTS OF GIRLS' TOURNEY

Claridon, LaRue Beaten in Pair of Games at Y. M. C. A. Court.

The Waldo Independents and Marion Business college chalked up victories last night on the Y. M. C. A. court as the first annual county girls' basketball tournament got under way. Only four teams are entered in the tourney. The championship game will be played next Wednesday night at the Y.

Waldo tackled the Claridon Independents in the first half of the double header bill, winning out in the final period by an 18-12 count. Claridon took the lead in the first few minutes of play and held it throughout the first half. Both teams displayed a marked inability to hit the net in the first two frames.

Waldo rallied in the third period and held Claridon to a single point while adding 10 to the Waldo column to climb in to a 12-7 lead by the three quarter point of the game. Claridon staged a comeback in the final frame that almost tied the count but Waldo again stepped out in front with a pair of baskets and held the advantage the rest of the game.

The Marion Business college had an easy time in romping off with a 42-8 decision over the LaRue Independents in the second game. With Webber, Ritter and Distard doing most of the scoring, the future bookkeepers took the lead in the first minutes of the contest, and widened the gap steadily through the rest of the contest.

Ritter, a forward, is a Gallon girl, having been signed to play in this tournament. Webber scored 15 points, Distard collected 13 and Ritter racked up 10. Chapman scored seven of the eight points scored by LaRue.

RUTH WORKS UNDER ONE-YEAR CONTRACT

Yanks Force Bambino To Take First Out of $5,000.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., 17.—For the first time in ten years Babe Ruth today is working for the old firm of Yankees under a one-year contract.

It calls for $75,000 representing a cut of $5,000.

Among baseball men the most significant feature of the Ruth situation is the Yankee management's entire unwillingness to risk more than one season's pay on the chances of the Babe sticking around the peak in his well-known specialty.

His general health and condition never have appeared better, but his legs, most observers agree, show unmistakably the strain of 18 years in the major leagues.

His batting eyes were none too sharp in his first exhibition game yesterday, when he failed to get a hit in six tries.

Ruth feels he is good for at least two or three years more of regular work.

LIVERPOOL, England, March 17.—Thirty-seven horses will start tomorrow the long journey over the four and one-half mile course at Aintree known as the Grand National.

Not all will finish. They never do. But for the horse and rider that successfully jump the 32 difficult obstacles of water, brush and stone and then manage to show the way past the judges' stand, there await fame and riches.

Millions of dollars will be distributed through gigantic sweepstakes.

Thirteen American-owned horses have been named for the race, the blue ribbon steeplechase event, first run in 1839. Only one—Sea Soldier—is American bred. He is a son of Man O'War and is entered in the name of A. H. Niblack.

Sea Soldier is an outsider in the official betting being quoted at 50 to 1. But many long shots have won.

FRENCH STARS LOSE IN TENNIS TOURNEY

National Indoor Meet Turns into Strictly American Affair.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 17.—The national indoor tennis championships, which started out to be a sort of winter preview of what might happen in next summer's Davis cup play with France, has become an all-American tournament.

One after another, the three aces—Jean Borotra, four-times winner of the title, Christian Boususs, a favorite to displace his countrymen this year, and young Antoine Gentien—were bowled over yesterday.

The outcome of the unexpected slaughter of the French invaders was that Berkeley Bell, runner up to Borotra last year, stood alone in the semi-final round of the singles today.

The draw sheet now shows George Lott of Chicago, pitted against Julius Seligson of New York, Gregory Mangin from Newark, who conquered Boususs, against Sidney B. Wood, Jr., last year's Wimbledon champion, and Frank Shields, against Frank Bowden of New York. Bell, a round ahead of the field, meets the winner of the Shields-Bowden match in the semi-finals.

Committees Named by Softball Board

Little Business of Importance Comes Before Recreation Ball Commission.

Little business of importance was transacted last night as the newly elected city recreation baseball commission held its first meeting of the season at the Y. Although managers of the various softball teams had been invited to attend to air any suggestions or requests concerning the coming season, only a few were there. The commission will meet again Wednesday night.

President N. E. Crisinger named three committees to serve this season. They are the rules, grounds and purchasing committee. Members of the rules group are E. G. (Jap) Stefert, Judge William R. Martin and W. N. Harder. Leo Keller, William Hartruff and Homer Little will comprise the grounds committee and R. G. Smallwood, T. M. Cunningham and William (Bill) Martin make up the purchasing group.

The commission has called a meeting of umpires for March 23 at the Y. An attempt will be launched at that time to assist the officials in the correct interpretation of the rules.

CAMPBELL VICTOR IN FEATURE BOUT

"Wild Red" Campbell scored a knockout last night in the second round of the main go of the combination wrestling-boxing program of the Golden Rule athletic club. A capacity house witnessed the event.

Skeets Frazier took the main go wrestling match when Rocky Boggs was disqualified after each man had taken one fall. The results of other matches follow:

Boxing: Louis Sprocco fought three rounds with Joe Caprino (No decision.) Jimmy Gore won from Dick Gardner. Johnny Stout and Roy Van Meter drew in three rounds. Skipp Eymon won from Billy McGuire of Upper Sandusky. The Jones of Gallon won from Art Williams of Marion.

Wrestling: Young Cicero and Tony Caprino drew in 15 minute match; Kid Kidado of Ada won from Sammy Sunners of Marion in straight falls.

Emmett McCann, new manager of the Indianapolis baseball club of the American association for the 1932 season is a former Portland shortstop.

SHOOTS PLANNED

Marion Gun Club To Make Improvements at Club's Grounds.

Plans were launched last night by the Marion Gun club to open the trapshooting season within a short time. The club will build a new club house and two new trap houses on the grounds at the Truman Owens farm a half mile east of Shrocks' school house on the Edison pipe.

Four registered shoots have been planned by the organization, to be held the first Wednesday in April, May, June and July. Other shoots will be held at the club. The date of the first is uncertain pending the completion of the improvements on the grounds.

Truman Owens is president of the club and E. H. Huggins is secretary.

DEFENDING CHAMPS BEATEN IN TOURNEY

De LaSalle Parochial Five of Chicago Loses in National Meet.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 17.—The great civil war between the teams of the ninth annual Catholic basketball tournament sped along in its second day today but the defending champion, De LaSalle of Minneapolis, was missing.

Catholic High of Washington, Ind., last night eliminated the 1931 winner in the first game of the second round. The score of 33 to 14 was as decisive as it was startling.

Only 75 boys are in their school but all its hardwood congressmen at this tournament are big enough to make up for the small cheering section back home. They meet St. Philip of Chicago in the second round Friday and were heavy favorites although the Chicagoans entered the second bracket last night by defeating DePadua High of Ashland, Wis., 31 to 29.

Father Ryan High of Nashville, the Tennessee state champion, and third place winner in the 1931 tourney, won 43 to 18 over St. Mary's of Iowa City. First round games today include: 11 a. m. St. Francis De Sales of Newark, O., vs. St. Mary's High school of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

PHAR LAP CHOICE AT AGUA CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 17.—A big red gelding from Australia, Phar Lap, has again become the favorite to lead the field in the $50,000 Agua Caliente handicap Sunday.

Phar Lap's prestige had suffered through reports that he was not in perfect condition.

A growing conviction that he has returned to winning form was reflected in the odds of 2 to 1 posted yesterday.

STOCKS RALLY AFTER SLUMP

Generally Recover Early Losses as Selling Pressure Is Overcome.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 17.—Selling pressure was firmly resisted in another session of the stock market today.

The market advanced in spots in the morning, but failed to make a steady recovery, and publication of the Chicago report for February, which showed a recovery after mid-ket outlook as considerably dimmed by the recent penetration of new low ground by General Motors and some of the rails. Some market theorists have felt that this indicated that a further testing of the market's triple bottom registered in the past three months might be necessary to provide a base for a fresh advance. It is acknowledged, however, that the improvement in the banking situation has largely eliminated the dangers of necessitous liquidation, and recent increases in the short interest has probably strengthened the market's technical position.

After sagging more than a point to a new low, Chesapeake & Ohio rallied to sell about a point higher. Union Pacific recovered a 2-point loss, and Santa Fe converted an early loss into a 3-point gain. Losses of a point or so in U. S. Steel and American Can were recovered, and American Telephone turned upward after getting down 2 points. American Tobacco, B. and Allied Chemical pushed up a point or more. American Type Founders preferred lost a couple of points, on omission of the dividend.

Chesapeake & Ohio was the first important railroad to report its February net income. Its showing of $1,470,744 was substantially better than the $1,196,638 reported for January and was better than February of last year when net was $1,185,612. This is the first report to reflect the 10 per cent wage reduction, and was apparently substantially better than expected.

GRAIN PRICES TEND LOWER

Report of Heavy Argentina Shipments Has Bearish Influence.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 17.—Forecast of extra heavy shipments of wheat from Argentina this week-end to early downturns in grain values today. There were also bearish effects from uncertainty shown regarding the significance of a trip abroad by George S. Milnor, head of the United States Grain Stabilization corporation. Opening 1/4 to 1/2 lower, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started 1/4 to 1/2 off and subsequently sagged further.

In some quarters, inferences were drawn that the object of President Milnor's transatlantic journey was to dispose of large quantities of stabilization board wheat. This was bearish construed abroad, one British authority cabling that price declines in Liverpool were largely due to fear of coming pressure of farm board wheat. Another bearish factor was word that amounts of wheat in second hands in Germany were larger than heretofore estimated.

Rallying power shown at times by wheat was more or less associated with smallness of Russian shipments for the week, the total being only 264,000 bushels compared with 476,000 last week. Some noises were likewise taken of unfavorable wheat crop advices from France and Poland. On the other hand, little overnight export business in North American wheat was acknowledged. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat price declines. Provisions were firm, influenced by upturns in hog values.

Carney's pitching strength represents an embarrassment of riches. He has been staying awake late at night trying to pick the nine best men from an assortment of 16 pitchers. Vance, Hoyt and Watson Clark top the list. Van Mungo and Arthur Jones, the youngest two twirlers in camp, appear to be the best of the recruits. Old Jack Quinn, Lefty Henrich and Babe Phelps will stay. That leaves one vacant spot to be filled from pitchers like Joe Shauter, Holts Thurston, Phil Gallivan, Austin Moore, Clyde Day and others.

Al Lopez and Clyde Sukeforth obtained from the Reds, will handle the backstopping with some aid from Val Pileggi.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS QUITE A TRAVELER

James M. "Jimmy" Reynolds, Civil war veteran and something of a globetrotter, today is celebrating his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary at the Walter Gast home at 273 Olney avenue where he makes his home. The day is being celebrated quietly by Mr. Reynolds and no particular occasion is being made of the anniversary.

Despite his advanced age, "Jimmy" as he is known to his close friends and cronies, takes a keen interest in life and nothing affords him greater pleasure than a jaunt out to Seattle, Wash., for a little visit with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Owen. Just how many trips he has made to the coast is not difficult to count for it is nothing unusual for him to drop in on the Owen family, stay a short time and return to Marion within the month. His last visit was in December and he returned home in January. According to those who know the symptoms, "Jimmy" is just about due for another trip to the west.

Mr. Reynolds has an interesting war career having served throughout practically the entire four-year period. He marched with Sherman to the sea, was in the battles of Chancellorsville, Gettysburg and

JAMES M. REYNOLDS

Bull Run and served as a mounted bugler for 18 months with General "Jim" Robinson of Kenton. It was to tunes played on Mr. Reynolds' bugle that many of the "boys" in Wyandot county signed up for service when the call for recruits came. His first enlistment was for 100 days with Company C. He later enlisted for full time service with Company K, Sixty-first Ohio Volunteers.

At the close of the war Mr. Reynolds became a carpenter and he helped erect many of the older residences in the city. He was born in Massillon but has always regarded Marion as his home. He seldom misses a day that he doesn't make a trip to the business section of the city and often makes two and three trips during the day.

2-ROOM RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Officials Search Today for Owner; Cause of Blaze Unknown.

Fire officials today were attempting to locate the owner of a two-room house at the intersection of Cheney avenue and Sawyer road which was destroyed by fire last night. Neighbors told firemen the house belonged to a man by the name of Rhodes but that he had not been at the place for several days.

Believing that he might have been in the house at the time of the fire, the firemen searched the ruins for several hours.

The fire, which started from an unknown cause, had gained considerable headway when discovered by neighbors at 10:30 p. m. When firemen from the No. 2 station arrived, the fire had spread to the entire building. The structure collapsed a short time after their arrival.

Neighbors several blocks away who saw the reflection of the flames in the windows at the office of the Osgood plant, sent in a call that the building was on fire. Firemen from the central station answered the call.
